Washington, Feb. 15.—Charging dictatorial partisanship was proposed President Wilson with "deliberately injecting politics" into the war and dubbing Secretary of War Baker a "pacifist by nature" Senator Weeks of Massachusetts today delivered a three hour speech in the senate in behalf of the Chamberlain war cabinet bill. VERNON CASTLE IS KILLED IN FALL FROM AIRPLANE

Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 15.—Captain Vernon Castle of the British Royal Flying Corps, famous dancer, was killed in a fall from his aeroplane in a fight at Benbrook Field, 15 miles west of here after trying to land after instructing an American Cadet student. Castle swerved his machine in order not to collide with another machine. The student with Castle was not injured.

Castle came to Fort Worth last October with Lord Wellesey's squad and immediately went into quarters at Benbrook where he was an instructor. He has seen long and exciting service on the western front in France and has crossed the German lines in Flanders several times. He was not even injured while at the front. Friends of Castle's in Texas declared that he said he had enough and was willing to die in the big service for Great Britain.

Castle and R. Peters were about 45 feet from the ground when the machine started to fall. Castle was driving from the front seat which is unusual as the instructor usually drives from the back seat. His friends declare that he has worried lately over the long course of instruction here and longed to return to the fighting line.

Later he appeared in the Sun Dodge and it was in one of the Field productions that he met Mrs. Castle. From their Broadway successes the Castles went to Paris where they took up dancing. While in France they met Charles W. Dillingham who brought them to the United States. Dillingham starred the Castles in

HOOVER ASKS FARMERS TO SELL WHEAT

Addreses Letter to County Farm Agents Calling Attention to The Urgent Need For Surplus

WHEAT IS NEEDED BADLY

There are apparently some misunderstandings in regard to wheat and some other products that are now under Federal control. Early in August the price on wheat was fixed at $2.20 per bushel, delivered at the Chicago market. This price was fixed by a Committee on which farmers were ably represented. The Food Administration had nothing to do with fixing this price, but has made a guarantee backed by the Federal Government that a minimum price of $2.00 per bushel would be maintained for the 1918 crop. This is simply a minimum price guarantee and not a fixed price. In order that the Allies may be supplied with 100,000,000 bushels of wheat they require Mr. Hoover urges in the following letter that farmers market their surplus wheat as promptly as possible. Local mills will buy and pay for wheat according to the Government price schedule.

A. T. KEARNEY.
Washington, D. C.,
January 25, 1918.

Howard Heinz,
Federal Food Administrator,
Bulletin Building,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Sir:

In order that a steady supply of wheat may be available for shipment abroad to meet the needs of our Army and that our Allies as shipping tonnage increases it is highly desirable that special efforts be made to urge the farmers in your state who have considerable quantities of wheat still in their hands to market the same without undue delay. The local price of $2.20 Chicago market will of course be maintained for the 1917 crop. It will, therefore, follow that no particular advantage can accrue by holding wheat in reserve in excess of seedling needs. The car situation is now gradually improving and consequently freer movement to the seaboard obtains.

Through the medium of a concerted campaign carried out by the State Food Administrators especially if same be handled in connection with the State Agricultural Colleges and the County Agents of the Extension Service of these Colleges, it is hoped that the supply now in the hands of the farmers can be moved into the regular channels of trade. Special efforts should be directed to secure this movement before season and sleigh transportation is interfered with by seasonal changes.

Will you not take this up immediately with the Director of the Extension Service at your State Agricultural College and have him instruct his County Agents to use special efforts at once in facilitating this movement?

Yours faithfully,
HERBERT HOOVER

BOLO PASHA TO BE SHOT AS A TRAITOR

International Spy and Handy Man of Germany Sentenced After Deliberation of Few Minutes

WAS RECENTLY IN U. S. A.

Paris, February 14.—Bolo Pasha was sentenced late today by the court martial to be shot dead as a traitor. He was found guilty of treason, his impassioned plea, the plea in his behalf by his brother—Mon. Bolo—and by the accused's first wife proving unavailing. The court-martial deliberated only fifteen minutes before rendering the verdict "Guilty."

Dirius Poche, an accountant, who acted as intermediary between Bolo and the former Khedive of Egypt, Germany's handy man, was sentenced to three years.

Signor Filippo Cavallini, a member of the Italian Parliament, now under arrest in Italy, was likewise sentenced to death, though he is technically Italian, not French, jurisdiction.

Both Poche and Cavallini were co-defendants. The sentence on Bolo Pasha will be carried out at an early date. The verdict was no surprise to the Paris public. The case appeared from the outset so complete that the extreme penalty was a foregone conclusion. Only twice was any sympathy expressed by the large crowd. This was when the doomed man's first wife whom he had betrayed and bemirched, sprang to his defense, and again when his clergyman brother pleaded eloquently that Bolo was insane.

But the facts and detailed data were too complete, too convincing to permit refuge behind sympathy. They showed Bolo, far from insane, to be one of the most cold-blooded schemers for wealth and influence at the expense of his fatherland ever recorded in the annals of history.

The case was clinched by evidence gathered by the New York State authorities and cabled to Paris, resulting in his immediate arrest September 28 last.

Caillaux, now in Senate prison, and Senator Humbert, both of whom were important witnesses in the Bolo case, are shortly to be tried for their alleged participation in the complex Deleval plot. In their testimony both were more concerned to clear their own names.

TODAY BRINGS MEMORIES OF THE SINKING OF THE BATTLESHIP MAINE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15.—The 20th anniversary of the destruction of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor was made the occasion of several notable patriotic demonstrations here today. Patriotic and military organizations and representatives of all branches of the regular military service participated in the exercises at Arlington National Cemetery, where many of the sailors and marines who perished in the disaster were buried. Floral tributes from President Wilson and the President of Cuba were placed on the Maine anchor and mast in the cemetery. This afternoon the memory of the Maine dead was further honored with impressive exercises held in the riding hall at Fort Myer under the auspices of the District of Columbia branch of the Spanish War Veterans.

The blowing up of the battleship Maine in the harbor of Havana on Feb. 15, 1898, resulted in the loss of 266 officers and men of the United States Navy, and suggested the cry of "Remember the Maine," which became the slogan of the Spanish-American war.

The battleship had been in Havana three weeks at the time of the disaster, having been sent there on a friendly visit and at the same time to protect American interests and residents at a time when the Cuban revolt against Spain had reached a critical stage. The Maine was in command of Captain Charles D. Sigbee. She was moored in a berth assigned by the naval authorities of Havana. It was at the least used buoy in the harbor, one that had not been previously occupied by a war vessel for many years. The Spaniards at Havana resented the presence of the American man-of-war and threatened utterance against the ship and her crew.

At 9:40 o'clock on the night of February 15, while the majority of the crew were asleep, a double explosion occurred forward directly under their quarters, when rent the ship in two causing her to sink almost instantly. Out of a complement of 360 souls, two officers and 264 men were killed by the explosion or drowned and sixty were taken out injured. The first explosion, according to the statements of those on board, lifted the forward part of the ship perceptibly. After a short interval the second explosion occurred, being more open and prolonged. The forward part of the vessel was shattered, while the after part was left practically intact. It was shown in reports by the officers that the temperature of the vessel was normal at eight o'clock and the condition of the coal bunkers, storage compartments and boilers such that the hypothesis of an internal explosion was absurd.

The Spanish authorities at Havana reported that the disaster was due to an internal explosion and proposed a joint inquiry by representatives of this Government and those of Spain. The government in Washington rejected this proposal and appointed a board of inquiry to investigate the wreck. The board examined the wreck and found that the bottom plates bent upward, forming a great arch, and a portion of the forward keel blown through the body of the ship and protruding above the deck thirty-six feet in vertical distance from its original position. Undoubtedly the arch was a hole in the mid fifteen feet in diameter and seven feet deep.

The conclusion of the court of inquiry were that the loss of the Maine was not in any respect due to fault or negligence on the part of any officers or crew; that the ship was destroyed by the explosion of a submarine mine, but that no evidence had been found to show who exploded the mine. Congress appropriated $50,000,000 for national defense shortly after the sinking, and President McKinley, on April 20, dispatched an ultimatum to Spain. Spain declared war on April 24, and the United States on the following day. When the Maine was raised and examined in 1912 proof was found that she had been sunk by a submarine mine. The identity of the individual guilty of blowing up the Maine has never been disclosed.

Mrs. Olen and Carrie Leonard neighbors for their kind assistance of Grampian wish to express their thanks for their friend and mother, Mrs. L. M. C. on rd.

Only twice was any sympathy expressed by the large crowd. This was when the doomed man's first wife whom he had betrayed and besmirched, sprang to his defense, and again when his clergyman brother pleaded eloquently that Bolo was insane.

But the facts and detailed data were too complete, too convincing to permit refuge behind sympathy. They showed Bolo, far from insane, to be one of the most cold-blooded schemers for wealth and influence at the expense of his fatherland ever recorded in the annals of history.

The case was clinched by evidence gathered by the New York State authorities and cabled to Paris, resulting in his immediate arrest September 28 last.

Caillaux, now in Senate prison, and Senator Humbert, both of whom were important witnesses in the Bolo case, are shortly to be tried for their alleged participation in the complex Debutis plot. In their testimony both were more concerned to clear their own names.

LONDON PRESS TAKES HEART FROM ARTILLERY ACTION BY U. S. FORCES

(By United Press)
London, Feb. 15.—The British raid in the Champagne region on Wednesday is of historical interest because American gunners made the barrage, declared the Express today. "Germany is professing to regard America's entrance in the war with unruined contempt. This small achievement of American youth's enthusiasm is an indication of what will happen in the future. It is assuredly the finality of the Kaiser."

DEMAND PROBE OF ITALIAN MILITARY

(By United Press)
Rome, Feb. 14. (Delayed.)—General Inarozzi in the Chamber of Deputies today urged an official inquiry into the military disaster at Caporetto. Deputy Muozzio attempted to criticize General Cadorna but had to desist when other deputies raised a tumult.

TODAY BRINGS MEMORIES OF THE SINKING OF THE BATTLESHIP MAINE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15.—The 20th anniversary of the destruction of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor was made the occasion of several notable patriotic demonstrations here today. Patriotic and military organizations and representatives of all branches of the regular military service participated in the exercises at Arlington National Cemetery, where many of the sailors and marines who perished in the disaster were buried. Floral tributes from President Wilson and the President of Cuba were placed on the Maine anchor and mast in the cemetery. This afternoon the memory of the Maine dead was further honored with impressive exercises held in the riding hall at Fort Myer under the auspices of the District of Columbia branch of the Spanish War Veterans.

The blowing up of the battleship Maine in the harbor of Havana on Feb. 15, 1898, resulted in the loss of 266 officers and men of the United States Navy, and suggested the cry of "Remember the Maine," which became the slogan of the Spanish-American war.

The battleship had been in Havana three weeks at the time of the disaster, having been sent there on a friendly visit and at the same time to protect American interests and residents at a time when the Cuban revolt against Spain had reached a critical stage. The Maine was in command of Captain Charles D. Sigsbee. She was moored in a berth assigned by the naval authorities of Havana. It was at the least tused buoy in the harbor, one that had not been previously occupied by a war vessel for many years. The Spaniards at Havana resented the presence of the American man-of-war and threats were uttered against the ship and her crew.

At 9.40 o'clock on the night of February 15, while the majority of the crew were asleep, a double explosion occurred forward directly under the quarters, which sent the ship in two, causing her to sink almost instantly. Out of a complement of 360 souls, two officers and 264 men were killed by the explosion or drowned and sixty were taken out injured.

The first explosion, according to the statements of those on board, lifted the forward part of the ship perceptibly. After a short interval the second explosion occurred, being more open and prolonged. The forward part of the vessel was shattered, while the after part was left practically intact. It was shown in reports by the officers that the temperature of the vessel was normal at eight o'clock and the condition of the coal bunkers, stowage compartments and boilers such that the hypothesis of an internal explosion was absurd.

The Spanish authorities at Havana reported that the disaster was due to an internal explosion and proposed a joint inquiry by representatives of this Government and those of Spain. The government in Washington rejected this proposal and appointed a naval board of inquiry to investigate. These officers examined the wreck and found that the bottom plates bent upward, forming a great arch, and a portion of the forward keel blown through the body of the ship and protruding above the deck thirty-six feet in vertical distance from its original position. Underneath the arch was a hole in the mud fifteen feet in diameter and seven feet deep.

The conclusions of the court of inquiry were that the loss of the Maine was not in any respect due to fault or negligence on the part of any officers or crew; that the ship was destroyed by the explosion of a submarine mine, but that no evidence had been found to show who exploded the mine.

Congress appropriated $50,000,000 for national defense shortly after the sinking, and President McKinley, on April 20, dispatched an ultimatum to Spain. Spain declared war on April 24, and the United States on the following day.

When the Maine was raised and examined in 1912 proof was found that she had been sunk by a submarine mine. The identity of the individual guilty of blowing up the Maine has never been disclosed.

LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

Canal Zone,
Jan. 26, 1918.

Dear Mother:—
I got your kind and loving letter and was glad to know you were well. I am feeling fine.

I have not received those boxes yet but suppose they will come; may have come on one of the boats which arrived yesterday.

Who do you mean when you speak of my friends? If I have any friends back home tell them to write me.

Tell that fellow who is going to war to take care of himself; this army business is a hard game, and a man has to be hard enough to crack to stay with it.

Put my name in The Progress and ask the people to write to me. It is awful lonesome down here.

Was surprised to heard you had moved. Where are the boys now? Send me one of their pictures. I have had my picture taken but it was not very good and I will have another taken.

From your son,
VERNON E. JORDAN,
Co. E, 5th Inf.,
Empire, Canal Zone,
Panama.

Fort Morgan, Alabama

Dear Folks at Home:

I will now write you a few lines this afternoon. It is Sunday and I am sitting around. Well this is a nice place here. People are plowing and working in the fields. The robins are singing.

I had a nice trip here. We went from Camp Dix on Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock. Went to Trenton, N. J. and took a pullman car to Philadelphia then to Washington, D. C. I was tired and I went to bed when we started through the state of Virginia.

I woke up in North Carolina. I went to sleep in South Carolina and slept until I got to Georgia. Then to Alabama. I was 3 days and 2 nights on the train and I was tired riding. Some of the fellows were in bathing. I have not gone in yet. They are wearing straw hats here. I know they are not wearing them in Odessa.

I will close now. Don't worry over me. Give my friends my best regards.

Your son,

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray streaked and faded hair is a grandmother's recipe and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage. Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the sulphur, and mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur compound" for about 20 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur compound" is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of dandruff.

STOMACH GAVE OUT ON HIM

Farmer Had Chance to Clean up Big Money but Couldn't Work—

Lots of People Just That Way Now

IS YOUR STOMACH A "SLACKER" NOW?

How in the deuce can any man hold down a job even in this day of labor shortage, or a woman feel sweet tempered and run a house when their stomach is out on a strike and acting like a slacker?

John Boyd solved the problem down in Marvin, Va., last November when he took a friend's advice and bought a bottle of Acid Iron Mineral, the remarkable iron tonic now being made from the ore of a strange medicinal ore deposit found down in Mississippi which builds people up like magic, if the stories of countless users are to be believed. Mr. Boyd writes: "I was suffering from stomach trouble and had been for several years and everything I ate hurt me so I could hardly get around at all. I am a farmer and have to work hard but I get so weak last fall I could hardly walk. A burning sensation and a miserable feeling after eating bore me down and my appetite wasted away to almost nothing. I would often vomit a whole meal right up an hour afterwards and I was in despair. "I only took one bottle of Acid Iron Mineral and when I wanted to get another I found that my local store was out of it. Mr. Short, the proprietor, says he can hardly keep it in stock as it is as staple as sugar and coffee. It certainly is fine medicine and I gladly recommend it to anybody suffering with stomach trouble."

Doctors are using it because, strange to say, it doesn't hurt teeth, like most iron remedies are apt to do, and the effect it has on the blood, complexion, digestion, and appetite is hard to believe. It is stronger, cheaper, better for you. Acid Iron Mineral is sold by you. Be careful, $1 for a bottle.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr.
Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure purgative and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of a scientific determination not to treat the bowels with calomel, but to cleanse the system by banishing it through the liver.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They do not injure the teeth like calomel, nor do they cause the griping and cramps of calomel. They take hold of the bowels and quickly correct it. Why does the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the teeth. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "biliousness" and that may be coming from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "stuffy." Note how they "clean" clouded vision and how they "pick up" the spirits. Buy a box and 25c a box. All druggists.

ENJOYABLE SOCIAL SESSION

The Men's Bible class of the West Side Methodist Episcopal church held a social session in the church last evening which was largely attended and greatly enjoyed by all present.

An excellent address was given by Rev. I. Fulton who explained the work and the mission of the organized church. Clarence Kramer spoke on the value of team work among the members. Other talks were given by Rev. R. M. Haney and Rev.

Music was furnished by the Sunday school orchestra which was greatly enjoyed. A quartet of boys sang a number of selections which were well rendered and elicited much favorable comment. Little Kenneth Shaw sang a solo which was very good.

A Hoover lunch was served.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphata before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness because the pores do not absorb impurities that the blood, causing ill health while the pores in the ten yards of the inside of the body are not reached by outside bathing. A warm glass of water used to drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of lime-salt, or a glass of water with a teaspoonful of phosphata, will cleanse the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, remove bile and toxins, thus cleansing, strengthening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the system.

Hot Water Bottle

Made of the best of rubber for the price these hot water bottles are the sort that will stand the wear for a long time. There's about every size and shape that would be needed in a sick room and—the stoppers won't leak! We also have the combination syringe and hot water bottle.

SORE THROAT or Tonsillitis—gargle with warm salt water—VICKS VAPORUB

Some queer communications reach this office, containing strange ideas.

If Backachy or Kidneys Bother

Eat less meat, also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them—flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region; you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad. Eat less meat; drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUT AS "LITTLE BROTHER"

Every man of the national army can be "adopted" by a "little brother." The "little brother" will be a boy scout.

The scout will undertake to visit the family of his "big brother," the absent soldier, once a week to see how they are getting along and whether there is anything he can do for them.

Being thus in touch with affairs in the home of the soldier, the scout will write regularly to the soldier, cheering him up and keeping him informed in his brotherly way of events at home and in the neighborhood.

Should the soldier desire that some official or society be asked to do something for the father or the mother or the wife, he may write to his "little brother," who will go in person and take the matter up.

Boy scouts at Birmingham, Ala., originated this plan, and the boy scout organization in Los Angeles was the first to adopt it. Boy scouts all over the country are now serving as "little brothers."

The first "little brother" whose adoption of a soldier has been accepted by the soldier is Russell Lee Pruett, aged thirteen years. He is the patrol leader of Wolf Patrol, Troop 44, Los Angeles, Boy Scouts of America. The "big brother" adopted is Fred Meyers, a strapping young man. He was in the first call.

"It means a lot to a fellow leaving home for the war," said Mr. Meyers.

Scout "Adopts" a Soldier.

"To know that there is a boy scout acting as a little brother who will keep me posted on conditions at home and who will look out for my mother and two small brothers."

And the happy "little brother" said: "I am proud to serve as a 'little brother' to Mr. Meyers. I feel that it is a real scout's 'good turn' to help my big brother at the front."

There are 3,000 boy scouts in the Los Angeles district, practically enough to adopt all the drafted men in the same territory.

Temperance Notes

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

"NO, NOTHING."

From the Morning (Olympian, Olympia, Wash.):

"What's the matter with you fellows on the force? Are you all asleep that you never throw any one in these days?" asked a restaurant cook of the Olympia police force. "The past two months I have not had orders for enough meals at the city jail to remember I had a city contract. In all my years in Olympia I never saw the like, and I've cooked many a meal in my time and made good money. But it's not even pennies for me now from you fellows. You're a bum bunch."

"You know why, don't you?" asked the police officer addressed.

"No, only that it's rotten business. What's the matter?"

"No booze!"

"No! Is that a fact?"

"Take it from me. She went dry some months ago, didn't she—those dry? Well, where there is no whiskey there is less trouble, and I've never seen it fall. No drunks, no disorder, no old-time 'rolling,' no scraps, nothing. There is no chance to jog the law-abiding Americans of Olympia today."

"Switched if it ever struck me, but that sure is the case. I guess the jail meals business is shot for good."

And later that afternoon Police Judge Crosby reported in police court during the entire month just past. "In the old days I used to dread to come down to the office in the morning, for they would be there waiting, six to a dozen strong," said the magistrate.

PRUSSIAN AND RUSSIAN.

Once upon a time—before the war—a Russian gentleman of great importance was dining with a Prussian gentleman similarly distinguished. As was usual on such occasions, wine and beer flowed and the guests became more and more unrestrained, much to the disgust of the Russian, who was of a highly refined and intellectual type and particularly prejudiced against beer and the grossness which attends its use.

In a state of hilarity the Prussian poured a great glass of beer and presented it to his Russian guest, saying: "You must empty this to the health of our kaiser."

The Russian took up an immense joint of mutton from the table and, laying it upon the Prussian's plate, said: "You must eat this to the health of our noble czar."

"What!" cried the Prussian in astonishment. "Do you think I am a wolf that I could gorge myself on that enormous joint?"

"Do you think," replied the Russian, "that I am a swine to pour that rotten mess into my stomach?"

FROM HIGH AUTHORITY.

In a form letter sent out from the treasury department at Washington making suggestions as to the sale of Liberty bonds, was this significant statement: "With the higher wages paid to workmen and with the larger returns to capital, the savings of the people, despite the high cost of living, increased enormously. The growth of prohibition has also stimulated thrift and helped materially to increase savings deposits."

THE RUM RATION.

Yes, we know that the pernicious practice of giving small doses of rum to soldiers in the trenches has prevailed in the British army. Also, we know that thousands of soldiers have been picked up out of shell craters in "No Man's Land," dead because their power of resisting shock had been lowered by rum poisoning. To the man who must endure wounds hours before he receives attention, the rum issue is a stab in the back.

GIVE US THE SOLID.

It discourages the most of us from trying to get fat on "liquid bread" when those scientific fellows come along with their demonstration that one must drink 54 bottles of it to get the same amount of nourishment contained in a single loaf of the other kind of bread. We really cannot afford it, since beer has gone up to "two for a quarter" in some places.—American Issue.

WORK FOR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

Since the United States entered the war the W. C. T. U. of the country has furnished between 800,000 and 400,000 comfort kits for the soldiers and sailors. Kansas W. C. T. U. alone made and distributed nearly 4,000. A tremendous amount of other war relief work is being done by the organization, including the making of surgical bandages.

MEN FROM PEORIA DISTILLERIES.

"Peoria's manufacturers will snap up every available man Monday morning," said a conspicuous Peoria (Ill.) business man. Between 1,500 and 2,000 men will be put out of employment in the distilleries; but there is a place for every one of them in the tractor factories, the implement works, and in other Peoria industries. We can use every ounce of coal and are glad to get it, that the distilleries have been requiring. Industrially, Peoria, will never know that the distilleries have been closed.—Chicago (Ill.) Ticket-Vending Semaphore.

At Kansas City an electric interurban railway has tried out, with gratifying results, a coin-operated semaphore intended for way stations where cars do not stop unless signaled. To operate the signal, one places a nickel in the slot and presses a lever. This actuates the semaphore arm, lights a red lamp, and issues a five-cent ticket to the prospective passenger.

With Fingers! Corns Lift Off

Doesn't hurt a bit to lift any corn or callus right off. Try it.

For a few cents you can get a small bottle of the magic drug frezone recently discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Just ask at any drug store for a small bottle of frezone. Apply a few drops upon a tender, aching corn or callus and instantly all soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you lift it off with the fingers.

Just think! Not one bit of pain before applying frezone or afterwards. It doesn't even irritate the surrounding skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also hardened calluses on bottom of feet, shrivel up and fall off without hurting a particle. It is almost magical.

Ladies! Keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn or callus ache twice.

SENATOR WEEKS FLAYS WILSON IN BIG SPEECH

CALLS BAKER "PACIFIST BY NATURE" IN THREE HOUR SPEECH ON THE CHAMBERLAIN WAR BOARD BILL

SAYS PRESIDENT PLAYS POLITICS

(By United Press)

Washington, Feb. 15.—Charging dictatorial partisanship was proposed President Wilson with "deliberately injecting politics" into the war and dubbing Secretary of War Baker a "pacifist by nature" Senator Weeks of Massachusetts today delivered a three hour speech in the senate in behalf of the Chamberlain war cabinet bill. Weeks threw brick bats and bogged at the war department and the administration from the President down with a liberal and impartial hand.

"Senators advocating the Chamberlain bill for coordination of war work have been charged with partisanship," said Weeks, "but the country should not fail to know that no question in

VERNON CASTLE IS KILLED IN FALL FROM AIRPLANE

Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 15.—Captain Vernon Castle of the British Royal Flying Corps, famous dancer, was killed in a fall from his aeroplane in a fight at Benbrook Field, 15 miles west of here after trying to land after instructing an American Cadet student. Castle swerved his machine in order not to collide with another machine. The student with Castle was not injured.

Castle came to Fort Worth last October with Lord Wellesey's squad and immediately went into quarters at Benbrook where he was an instructor. He has seen long and exciting service on the western front in France and has crossed the German lines in Flanders several times. He was not even injured while at the front. Friends of Castle's in Texas declared that he said he had enough and was willing to die in the big service for Great Britain.

Castle and R. Peters were about 45 feet from the ground when the machine started to fall. Castle was driving from the front seat which is unusual as the instructor usually drives from the back seat. His friends declare that he has worried lately over the long course of instruction here and longed to return to the fighting line.

Vernon Castle was born in England 33 years ago. His right name was Vernon Blythe. His sister is married to Lauren Crossmith a well known theatrical producer. Castle was first seen in the United States in one of the Lewis-Field production in Herald Square theatre and he took the part of a waiter in "The Girl Behind the Counter."

Later he appeared in the Sun Dodgers and it was in one of the Field productions that he met Mrs. Castle. From their Broadway successes the Castles went to Paris where they took up dancing. While in France they met Charles W. Dillingham who brought them to the United States. Dillingham starred the Castles in nothing.

SIMMS FINDS AUSTRIAN PEOPLE READY TO BARTER THEIR SOULS FOR PEACE

By William Phillip Simms

Berne, Switzerland, Feb. 15.—Chained to Germany only by treaties Austria is willing to give her soul for peace. An American official just out of Austria declared he is convinced after talking with Austrian officials that Austria is willing to give Italy all she demands may even the port of Trieste if it will bring peace. She will give up Trieste or anything else if it will end the war. From most reliable sources I understand differences of views between Berlin and Vienna is practically official. I learned from a friend of an Austrian official recently in Zurich that Austria desires above everything else to repay in some degree the wrong she has wrought in order to establish friendly relations with other countries immediately after the war.

When war broke out a young man who was every kind of rogue suddenly acquired a brand-new conscience, and worked it overtime, says London Tit-Bits. When he came before the tribunal he had got his conscientious objections all out and dried. The chairman listened gravely for a little while, until the bogus C. O. warning to his subject, began to get flowery.

"Yes," he cried, lifting his eyes to heaven, "in 1905 I was born again."

"In that case," broke in the chairman, quietly, "have you any objection to joining the boy scouts?"

Lumping Them Off.

A tiny girl had made it her custom to enumerate by name all the members of the family and the close friends, in her evening prayers, but at the close of a strenuous day of play she was tired and after the opening position she yawned, then added sleepily: "And please just bless the whole bunch."

HOOVER ASKS FARMERS TO SELL WHEAT

Addreses Letter to County Farm Agents Calling Attention to The Urgent Need For Surplus

WHEAT IS NEEDED BADLY

There are apparently some misunderstandings in regard to wheat and some other products that are now under Federal control. Early in August the price on wheat was fixed at $2.20 per bushel, delivered at the Chicago market. This price was fixed by a Committee on which farmers were ably represented. The Food Administration had nothing to do with fixing this price, but has made a guarantee backed by the Federal Government that a minimum price of $2.00 per bushel would be maintained for the 1918 crop. This is simply a minimum price guarantee and not a fixed price. In order that the Allies may be supplied with 100,000,000 bushels of wheat they require Mr. Hoover urges in the following letter that farmers market their surplus wheat as promptly as possible. Local mills will buy and pay for wheat according to the Government price schedule.

A. T. KEARNEY.
Washington, D. C.,
January 25, 1918.

Howard Heinz,
Federal Food Administrator,
Bulletin Building,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Sir:

In order that a steady supply of wheat may be available for shipment abroad to meet the needs of our Army and that our Allies as shipping tonnage increases it is highly desirable that special efforts be made to urge the farmers in your state who have considerable quantities of wheat still in their hands to market the same without undue delay. The local price of $2.20 Chicago market will of course be maintained for the 1917 crop. It will, therefore, follow that no particular advantage can accrue by holding wheat in reserve in excess of seedling needs. The car situation is now gradually improving and consequently a freer movement to the seaboard obtains.

Through the medium of a concerted campaign carried out by the State Food Administrators especially if same be handled in connection with the State Agricultural Colleges and the County Agents of the Extension Service of these Colleges, it is hoped that the supply now in the hands of the farmers can be moved into the regular channels of trade. Special efforts should be directed to secure this movement before season and sleigh transportation is interfered with by seasonal changes.

Will you not take this up immediately with the Director of the Extension Service at your State Agricultural College and have him instruct his County Agents to use special efforts at once in facilitating this movement?

Yours faithfully,
HERBERT HOOVER

CONCERT A SUCCESS

The Novelty Concert given by the Trinity Methodist church choir last evening in the auditorium of the church was most unique and greatly pleased the large crowd who attended.

BOLO PASHA TO BE SHOT AS A TRAITOR

International Spy and Handy Man of Germany Sentenced After Deliberation of Few Minutes

WAS RECENTLY IN U. S. A.

Paris, February 14.—Bolo Pasha was sentenced late today by the court martial to be shot dead as a traitor. He was found guilty of treason, his impassioned plea, the plea in his behalf by his brother—Mon. Bolo—and by the accused's first wife proving unavailing. The court-martial deliberated only fifteen minutes before rendering the verdict "Guilty."

Dirius Poche, an accountant, who acted as intermediary between Bolo and the former Khedive of Egypt, Germany's handy man, was sentenced to three years.

Signor Filippo Cavallini, a member of the Italian Parliament, now under arrest in Italy, was likewise sentenced to death, though he is technically Italian, not French, jurisdiction.

Both Poche and Cavallini were co-defendants. The sentence on Bolo Pasha will be carried out at an early date. The verdict was no surprise to the Paris public. The case appeared from the outset so complete that the extreme penalty was a foregone conclusion. Only twice was any sympathy expressed by the large crowd. This was when the doomed man's first wife whom he had betrayed and bemirched, sprang to his defense, and again when his clergyman brother pleaded eloquently that Bolo was insane.

But the facts and detailed data were too complete, too convincing to permit refuge behind sympathy. They showed Bolo, far from insane, to be one of the most cold-blooded schemers for wealth and influence at the expense of his fatherland ever recorded in the annals of history.

The case was clinched by evidence gathered by the New York State authorities and cabled to Paris, resulting in his immediate arrest September 28 last.

Caillaux, now in Senate prison, and Senator Humbert, both of whom were important witnesses in the Bolo case, are shortly to be tried for their alleged participation in the complex Deleval plot. In their testimony both were more concerned to clear their own names.

TODAY BRINGS MEMORIES OF THE SINKING OF THE BATTLESHIP MAINE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15.—The 20th anniversary of the destruction of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor was made the occasion of several notable patriotic demonstrations here today. Patriotic and military organizations and representatives of all branches of the regular military service participated in the exercises at Arlington National Cemetery, where many of the sailors and marines who perished in the disaster were buried. Floral tributes from President Wilson and the President of Cuba were placed on the Maine anchor and mast in the cemetery. This afternoon the memory of the Maine dead was further honored with impressive exercises held in the riding hall at Fort Myer under the auspices of the District of Columbia branch of the Spanish War Veterans.

The blowing up of the battleship Maine in the harbor of Havana on Feb. 15, 1898, resulted in the loss of 266 officers and men of the United States Navy, and suggested the cry of "Remember the Maine," which became the slogan of the Spanish-American war.

The battleship had been in Havana three weeks at the time of the disaster, having been sent there on a friendly visit and at the same time to protect American interests and residents at a time when the Cuban revolt against Spain had reached a critical stage. The Maine was in command of Captain Charles D. Sigbee. She was moored in a berth assigned by the naval authorities of Havana. It was at the least tused buoy in the harbor, one that had not been previously occupied by a war vessel for many years. The Spaniards at Havana resented the presence of the American man-of-war and threatened utterance against the ship and her crew.

At 9:40 o'clock on the night of February 15, while the majority of the crew were asleep, a double explosion occurred forward directly under their quarters, when rent the ship in two causing her to sink almost instantly. Out of a complement of 360 souls, two officers and 264 men were killed by the explosion or drowned and sixty were taken out injured. The first explosion, according to the statements of those on board, lifted the forward part of the ship perceptibly. After a short interval the second explosion occurred, being more open and prolonged. The forward part of the vessel was shattered, while the after part was left practically intact. It was shown in reports by the officers that the temperature of the vessel was normal at eight o'clock and the condition of the coal bunkers, storage compartments and boilers such that the hypothesis of an internal explosion was absurd.

The Spanish authorities at Havana reported that the disaster was due to an internal explosion and proposed a joint inquiry by representatives of this Government and those of Spain. The government in Washington rejected this proposal and appointed a board of inquiry to investigate the wreck. The board examined the wreck and found that the bottom plates bent upward, forming a great arch, and a portion of the forward keel blown through the body of the ship and protruding above the deck thirty-six feet in vertical distance from its original position. Undersneath the arch was a hole in the mud fifteen feet in diameter and seven feet deep.

The conclusion of the court of inquiry were that the loss of the Maine was not in any respect due to fault or negligence on the part of any officers or crew; that the ship was destroyed by the explosion of a submarine mine, but that no evidence had been found to show who exploded the mine.

Congress appropriated $50,000,000 for national defense shortly after the sinking, and President McKinley, on April 20, dispatched an ultimatum to Spain. Spain declared war on April 24, and the United States on the following day.

When the Maine was raised and examined in 1912 proof was found that she had been sunk by a submarine mine. The identity of the individual guilty of blowing up the Maine has never been disclosed.

SENATOR WEEKS FLAYS WILSON IN BIG SPEECH

CALLS BAKER "PACIFIST BY NATURE" IN THREE HOUR SPEECH ON THE CHAMBERLAIN WAR BOARD BILL

SAYS PRESIDENT PLAYS POLITICS

(By United Press)

Washington, Feb. 15.—Charging dictating partisanship was proposed until the President deliberately injected politics into the situation by attacking Senator Chamberlain and the committee itself by calling to the White House many Democratic leaders not to consult but to insist in preventing the discussion of this question on the floor of the Senate.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Declaring "a false impression" is being given the country about the number of American troops in Europe, Senator Weeks today delivered a three hour speech in the senate in behalf of the Chamberlain war cabinet bill at the war department and the administration from the President down with a liberal and impartial hand.

"Senators advocating the Chamberlain bill for coordination of war work have been charged with partisanship," said Weeks, "but the country should not fail to know that no question in-

VERNON CASTLE IS KILLED IN FALL FROM AIRPLANE

Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 15.—Captain Vernon Castle of the British Royal Flying Corps, famous dancer, was killed in a fall from his aeroplane in a fight at Begbrook Field, 15 miles west of here after trying to land after instructing an American Cadet student. Castle swerved his machine in order not to collide with another machine. The student with Castle was not injured.

Castle came to Fort Worth last October with Lord Wollseley's squad and immediately went into quarters at Benbrook where he was an instructor. He has seen long and exciting service on the western front in France and has crossed the German lines in Flanders several times. He was not even injured while at the front. Friends of Castle's in Texas declared that he said he had enough and was willing to die in the big service for Great Britain.

Castle and R. Peters were about 45 feet from the ground when the machine started to fall. Castle was driving from the front seat which is unusual as the instructor usually drives from the back seat. His friends declare that he has worried lately over the long course of instruction here and longed to return to the fighting line.

Vernon Castle was born in England 33 years ago. His right name was Vernon Blythe. His sister is married to Lauren Crossmith a well known theatrical producer. Castle was first seen in the United States in one of the Lewis-Field production in Herald Square theatre and he took the part of a waiter in "The Girl Behind the Counter."

Later he appeared in the Sun Dodgers and it was in one of the Field productions that he met Mrs. Castle. From their Broadway successes the Castles went to Paris where they took up dancing. While in France they met Charles W. Dillingham who brought them to the United States. Dillingham starred the Castles in

ARCHIE ROOSEVELT MADE CAPTAIN

Washington, Feb. 15.—Archibald Roosevelt was today made a captain in the National army. He was a second lieutenant.

When war broke out a young man who was every kind of rogue suddenly acquired a brand-new conscience, and worked it overtime, says London Tri-Bus. When he came before the tribunal he had got his conscientious objections all out and dried. The chairman listened gravely for a little while, until the bogus C. O. warning to his subject, began to get flowery.

"Yes," he cried, lifting his eyes to heaven, "in 1905 I was born again!"
"In that case," broke in the chairman, quietly "have you any objection to joining the boy scouts?"

A tiny girl had made it her custom to enumerate by name all the members of the family and the close friends, in her evening prayers, but at the close of a strenuous day of play she was tired and after the opening position she yawned, then added sleepily: "And please just bless the whole bunch."

HOOVER ASKS FARMERS TO SELL WHEAT

Addresses Letter to County Farm Agents Calling Attention to The Urgent Need For Surplus

WHEAT IS NEEDED BADLY

There are apparently some misunderstandings in regard to wheat and some other products that are now under Federal control. Early in August the price on wheat was fixed at $2.20 per bushel, delivered at the Chicago market. This price was fixed by a Committee on which farmers were ably represented. The Food Administration had nothing to do with fixing this price, but has made a guarantee backed by the Federal Government that a minimum price of $2.00 per bushel would be maintained for the 1918 crop. This is simply a minimum price guarantee and not a fixed price, in order that the Allies may be supplied with 100,000,000 bushels of wheat they require Mr. Hoover urges in the following letter that farmers market their surplus wheat as promptly as possible. Local mills will buy and pay for wheat according to the Government price schedule.

A. T. KEARNEY.
Washington, D. C.,
January 25, 1918.

Howard Heinz,
Federal Food Administrator,
Bulletin Building,
Philadelphia, Pa.
Dear Sir:

In order that a steady supply of wheat may be available for shipment abroad to meet the needs of our Army and that our Allies as shipping tonnage increases it is highly desirable that special efforts be made to urge the farmers in your state who have considerable quantities of wheat still in their hands to market the same without undue delay. The local price of $2.20 Chicago market will of course be maintained for the 1917 crop. It will, therefore, follow that no particular advantage can accrue by holding wheat in reserve in excess of seedling needs. The car situation is now gradually improving and consequently freer movement to the seaboard obtains.

Through the medium of a concerted campaign carried out by the State Food Administrators especially if same be handled in connection with the State Agricultural Colleges and the County Agents of the Extension Service of these Colleges, it is hoped that the supply now in the hands of the farmers can be moved into the regular channels of trade. Special efforts should be directed to secure this movement before wagon and sleigh transportation is interfered with by seasonal changes.

Will you not take this up immediately with the Director of the Extension service at your State Agricultural College and have him instruct his County Agents to use special efforts at once in facilitating this movement?

Yours faithfully,
HERBERT HOOVER.

CONCERT A SUCCESS

The Novelty Concert given by the Trinity Methodist church choir last evening in the auditorium of the church was most unique and greatly pleased the large crowd who attended.

The program was unusual, smart and capably rendered throughout. Each one who took part is highly deserving of praise.

Following the concert a light lunch was served in the dining room which was excellent.

The proceeds of the entertainment are to purchase a Liberty Bond for the Home Missionary Fund.

BOLO PASHA TO BE SHOT AS A TRAITOR

International Spy and Handy Man of Germany Sentenced After Deliberation of Few Minutes

WAS RECENTLY IN U. S. A.

Paris, February 14.—Bolo Pasha was sentenced late today by the court martial to be shot dead as a traitor.

He was found guilty of treason, his impassioned plea, the plea in his behalf by his brother—Mon. Bolo—and by the accused's first wife proving unavailing. The court-martial deliberated only fifteen minutes before rendering the verdict "Guilty."

Darius Pochere, an accountant, who acted as intermediary between Bolo and the former Khedive of Egypt, Germany's handy man, was sentenced to three years.

Signor Filippo Cavallini, a member of the Italian Parliament, now under arrest in Italy, was likewise sentenced to death, though he is technically in Italian, not French, jurisdiction.

Both Pochere and Cavallini were co-defendants.

The sentence on Bolo Pasha will be carried out at an early date.

The verdict was no surprise to the Paris public. The case appeared from the outset so complete that the extreme penalty was a foregone conclusion. Only twice was any sympathy expressed by the large crowd. This was when the doomed man's first wife whom he had betrayed and besmirched, sprang to his defense, and again when his clergyman brother pleaded eloquently that Bolo was insane.

But the facts and detailed data were too complete, too convincing to permit refuge behind sympathy. They showed Bolo, far from insane, to be one of the most cold-blooded schemers for wealth and influence at the expense of his fatherland ever recorded in the annals of history.

The case was clinched by evidence gathered by the New York State authorities and cabled to Paris, resulting in his immediate arrest September 28 last.

Caillaux, now in Senate prison, and Senator Humbert, both of whom were important witnesses in the Bolo case, are shortly to be tried for their alleged participation in the complex Debutis plot. In their testimony both were more concerned to clear their own names.

Deputy Muozzio attempted to criticize General Cadorna but had to desist when other deputies raised a tumult.

TODAY BRINGS MEMORIES OF THE SINKING OF THE BATTLESHIP MAINE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15.—The 20th anniversary of the destruction of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor was made the occasion of several notable patriotic demonstrations here today. Patriotic and military organizations and representatives of all branches of the regular military service participated in the exercises at Arlington National Cemetery, where many of the sailors and marines who perished in the disaster were buried. Floral tributes from President Wilson and the President of Cuba were placed on the Maine anchor and mast in the cemetery. This afternoon the memory of the Maine dead was further honored with impressive exercises held in the riding hall at Fort Myer under the auspices of the District of Columbia branch of the Spanish War Veterans.

The blowing up of the battleship Maine in the harbor of Havana on Feb. 15, 1898, resulted in the loss of 266 officers and men of the United States Navy, and suggested the cry of "Remember the Maine," which became the slogan of the Spanish-American war.

The battleship had been in Havana three weeks at the time of the disaster, having been sent there on a friendly visit and at the same time to protect American interests and residents at a time when the Cuban revolt against Spain had reached a critical stage. The Maine was in command of Captain Charles D. Sigsbee. She was moored in a berth assigned by the naval authorities of Havana. It was at the least tused buoy in the harbor, one that had not been previously occupied by a war vessel for many years. The Spaniards at Havana resented the presence of the American man-of-war and threatened to utter against the ship and her crew.

At 9:40 o'clock on the night of February 15, while the majority of the crew were asleep, a double explosion occurred forward directly under the quarters, which sent the ship in two, causing her to sink almost instantly. Out of a complement of 360 souls, two officers and 264 men were killed by the explosion or drowned and sixty were taken out injured.

The first explosion, according to the statements of those on board, lifted the forward part of the ship perceptibly. After a short interval the second explosion occurred, being more open and prolonged. The forward part of the vessel was shattered, while the after part was left practically intact. It was shown in reports by the officers that the temperature of the vessel was normal at eight o'clock and the condition of the coal bunkers, stowage compartments and boilers such that the hypothesis of an internal explosion was absurd.

The Spanish authorities at Havana reported that the disaster was due to an internal explosion and proposed a joint inquiry by representatives of this Government and those of Spain. The government in Washington rejected this proposal and appointed a naval board of inquiry to investigate. These officers examined the wreck and found that the bottom plates bent upward, forming a great arch, and a portion of the forward keel blown through the body of the ship and protruding above the deck thirty-six feet in vertical distance from its original position. Underneath the arch was a hole in the mud fifteen feet in diameter and seven feet deep.

The conclusions of the court of inquiry were that the loss of the Maine was not in any respect due to fault or negligence on the part of any officers or crew; that the ship was destroyed by the explosion of a submarine mine, but that no evidence had been found to show who exploded the mine.

Congress appropriated $50,000,000 for national defense shortly after the sinking, and President McKinley, on April 20, dispatched an ultimatum to Spain. Spain declared war on April 24, and the United States on the following day.

When the Maine was raised and examined in 1912 proof was found that she had been sunk by a submarine mine. The identity of the individual guilty of blowing up the Maine has never been disclosed.

Misses Orena and Carrie Leonard of Grampian wish to express their neighbors for their kind assistance during the illness and death of their dear father, Mrs. Linda M. Leonard.

NEED AWAKENING

There are two classes who are slackers in the Food Administration program of our government. The first are the pudgy faced, purple-veined gluttons who eat in first class restaurants and hotels and seize upon every opportunity to make up on Saturday for the meat they could not get on Friday. The other class is made up of the people who are not readers of newspaper and magazines and have not come to a full understanding of their duty in conserving foods. Unfortunately many of these are no broad enough between the eyes to see the importance of our saving every scrap of meat and every grain of wheat. It is indeed discouraging to observe these rules in your own home and then find this slacker type in the restaurants and in some homes. All good citizens will remember however that two wrongs do not make a right and that if another chooses to be a slacker, let him to his own peril for he will surely come sooner or later. The Altoona Tribune has observed this type of slacker and has lost faith in moral suasion as a cure for our wasteful habits. I endorse a ration system in an editorial which is reprinted below.

The Tribune has little faith in the effectiveness of mammoth food conservation signs set up over school house doors or in other prominent places in the city. It believes this theory unlikely to produce results. Furthermore, if the people of Altoona and Blair county, after the tremendous use of printer's ink in the conservation campaign, are disregarding the needs of their allies on the other side and even reckless of the welfare of their own boys not in France or England, and buying foodstuffs as recklessly as they ever did, the short and easy method would be to put all the people on the ration system and compel the purchase of food by card only, so much for each member of a family per day. Certainly, the newspapers and the magazines have printed thousands of columns of conservation literature recently and thousands of speeches have been delivered. Have they been useless?

Night before last we made an appeal in this column which evidently touched the heartstrings of a responsive citizenry. A total of more than thirty-five dollars has already been turned in to Wade I. Stewart, the treasurer of the fund started by Progress subscribers, and in addition to this there is another fund started which has grown to more than twice the amount of the one we spoke about.

This is a case that is meritorious and the response to date is very gratifying to those who know what great good can be done and what a blessing this money will be to one who is deserving in every sense of the word.

THOUGHT OF HIS SICK AND ACCIDENT POLICY

About ten thirty A. M. today a sudden gust of wind took one of the front windows from the second story of the D. W. Speck building on Market street and hurled it to the street not more than ten feet from a pedestrian. The citizen thanked his stars that he was unharmed and made a resolution right then and there that on April 24 when his accident policy becomes due he will pay it if he has to observe seven meatless days per week.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

RARE BUFFALOES.

"Mrs. Buffalo," said Daddy, "was watching the children growing up. 'Little son Henry,' she said, 'will soon be a big buffalo. His horns are curved. For such a long time they have been quite straight—the way all my sons' horns have been when young. But now it shows Henry is growing up—he has beautiful horns which go off in semi-circular curves.'"

"What are semi-circular curves?" asked Nick.

"They are curves which only go half round—just like half a circle," answered Daddy. "And so Mrs. Buffalo gazed with fondness at her son."

"Henry, Mrs. Buffalo's child, was really much older than I think we would guess."

"How old was he?" asked Nancy.

"About six months old," said Nick.

"Maybe a year old," suggested Nancy. "If Daddy says he was older than we would imagine when full-grown."

Daddy laughed and shouted, "Both wrong!"

"Now Henry was born one May, seven years before Mrs. Buffalo made this speech. She did not know that he was seven years old. She had not stopped to count the years, but she did know that he was at least a grown-up son because of his horns."

"To be sure every spring of the seven years she knew that she and her family and cousins and relations had all shed their coats and that they had not bothered about new ones until the fall. This had happened every year. It was simply that Mrs. Buffalo had not counted how many years there had been."

"Come and talk to me," said Mrs. Buffalo, as she noticed Mrs. Bison not far away."

"What kind of an animal was Mrs. Bison, Daddy?" asked the children.

"Mrs. Bison belonged to the same family of animals as Mrs. Buffalo. Sometimes one is called a buffalo, then another a bison."

My Brother Tom

By ELINOR MARSH

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union)

When my brother Tom was sixteen he went to a distant city to seek his fortune. I was then a little girl of ten. When the world's war broke out Tom enlisted in an ambulance corps and went to France without my seeing him. I had not seen him since he had left home eight years before. Then news came that he had been grievously wounded, and was to be discharged from military service, and sent home. Meanwhile, father had died, mother was very feeble, and there was no one to meet Tom when he should arrive at the port of New York but myself. The news

LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIER BOYS

Canal Zone,
Jan. 26, 1918.

Dear Mother:—
I got your kind and loving letter and was glad to know you were well. I am feeling fine.

I have not received those boxes yet but suppose they will come; may have come on one of the boats which arrived yesterday.

Who do you mean when you speak of my friends? If I have any friends back home tell them to write me.

Tell that fellow who is going to war to take care of himself; this army business is a hard game, and a man has to be hard enough to crack to stay with it.

Put my name in The Progress and ask the people to write to me. It is awful lonesome down here.

Was surprised to heard you had moved. Where are the boys now? Send me one of their pictures. I have had my picture taken but it was not very good and I will have another taken.

From your son,
VERNON E. JORDAN,
Co. E, 5th Inf.,
Empire, Canal Zone,
Panama.

Fort Morgan, Alabama

Dear Folks at Home:

I will now write you a few lines this afternoon. It is Sunday and I am sitting around. Well this is a nice place here. People are plowing and working in the fields. The robins are singing.

I had a nice trip here. We went from Camp Dix on Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock. Went to Trenton, N. J. and took a pullman car to Philadelphia then to Washington, D. C. I was tired and I went to bed when we started through the state of Virginia. I woke up in North Carolina. I went to sleep in South Carolina and slept until I got to Georgia. Then to Alabama. I was 3 days and 2 nights on the train and I was tired riding. Some of the fellows were in bathing. I have not gone in yet. They are wearing straw hats here. I know they are not wearing them in Odessa. I will close now. Don't worry over me. Give my friends my best regards.

Your son,

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray streaked and faded hair is a grandmother's recipe and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage. Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the sulphur, and mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur compound" for about 20 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur compound" is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

The work left a fine boy baby at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mahaffey Camden, N. J. Mr. Mahaffey is the proud father, thinking he has a soldier boy for Uncle Sam.

STOMACH GAVE OUT ON HIM

Farmer Had Chance to Clean up Big Money but Couldn't Work—Lots of People Just That Way Now

IS YOUR STOMACH A "SLACKER" NOW?

How in the deuce can any man hold down a job even in this day of labor shortage, or a woman feel sweet tempered and run a house when their stomach is out on a strike and acting like a slacker?

John Boyd solved the problem down in Marvin, Va., last November when he took a friend's advice and bought a bottle of Acid Iron Mineral, the remarkable iron tonic now being made from the ore of a strange medicinal ore deposit found down in Mississippi which builds people up like magic, if the stories of countless users are to be believed. Mr. Boyd writes: "I was suffering from stomach trouble and had been for several years and everything I ate hurt me so I could hardly get around at all. I am a farmer and have to work hard but I get so weak last fall I could hardly walk. A burning sensation and a miserable feeling after eating bore me down and my appetite wasted away to almost nothing. I would often vomit a whole meal right up an hour afterwards and I was in despair. "I only took one bottle of Acid Iron Mineral and when I wanted to get another I found that my local store was out of it. Mr. Short, the proprietor, says he can hardly keep it in stock as it is as staple as sugar and coffee. It certainly is fine medicine and I gladly recommend it to anybody suffering with stomach trouble."

Doctors are using it because, strange to say, it doesn't hurt teeth, like most iron remedies are apt to do, and the effect it has on the blood, complexion, digestion, and appetite is hard to believe. It is stronger, cheaper, better for you. Acid Iron Mineral is sold by you. Be careful, $1 for a bottle.
